The suspects in a Chicago, Illinois house party shooting Monday, which killed three and injured five, have been confirmed to be Venezuelan and likely illegal aliens by police sources.

As The Gateway Pundit reported, Venezuelan Tren De Aragua gang members—the same group taking over apartment complexes, terrorizing residents, and demanding “rent” payments in Aurora, Colorado—have overrun the sanctuary city of Chicago, committing violent crime and overwhelming the Chicago police force. The Tren De Aragua gang is expanding across the country also in Texas, New York and Tennessee.

The Gateway Pundit was the first to question the “mass shooting” narrative, noting that it was likely criminal Venezuelan illegal aliens in Gage Park where Chicago has housed illegals in facilities in the town’s facilities.

Eight people were shot and three killed in the shooting in the 3500 block of West 59th Street in Gage Park.

The Gun Violence Archive and leftist media outlets identify mass shootings as incidents with "a minimum of four victims shot, either injured or killed, not including any shooter who may also have been killed or injured in the incident" to inflate the number of so-called mass shootings and further their narrative.

Chicago Police Chief of Patrol Jon Hein told reporters during a press conference Monday, "A total of eight individuals from this incident had been shot, four males, four females, Hispanic background, ages 20 to 35, three of the male subjects succumbed from their injuries involved in today."

This is just a few miles away from the Holliday Inn near Midway airport, where the city is known to harbor illegal aliens who were smuggled into the country. Real America's Voice correspondent Ben Bergquam and Chicago native Terry Newsome recently exposed the NGOs using the hotel to house and transport illegal aliens in October.

Newsome discovered that the shooting Monday was a potential "act of retaliation" from Venezuelan illegals, according to a trusted source with the Chicago Police Department. Newsome further told The Gateway Pundit Tuesday, "It supposedly was a mob/gang-like retaliation hit. The DJ at the party murdered someone in Venezuela."

Details on the motive of the shooting remain unconfirmed as of reporting, but it has been confirmed by Chicago police sources that there are multiple suspects who are believed to be Venezuelan.

Additionally, two of the deceased victims have reportedly been identified as Jon Carlos Blancarcar and Hector Sajo.

Terry Newsome released a video on Wednesday revealing what he learned from police sources on the incident. "This shooting location was right by the Gage Park illegal Venezuelan shelter, where they house Tren De Aragua," he said.

Newsome also notes that mobster Al Capone made the city of Chicago internationally famous after seven were shot in the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, and "100 years later, thanks to Biden, we're going to be well known again for eight people being shot by Venezuelan gang members.

The question remains: Will leftists continue to call for gun control and stricter background checks for law-abiding Americans to purchase guns or will they finally call for proof of citizenship for entry into the United States?

This is a developing story.
